REAPPRAISAL ORDER

On November 15, 2012, Cherice Kjosness of the Division of Property Taxation (DPT) and supervisor of the investigation into the 2011 taxpayer complaints against the Saguache County Assessor, testified and presented exhibits establishing that in spite of the efforts of the Saguache County Assessor in 2011 and 2012, there remained a significant number of omitted improvements in several property classes.

After considering all evidence and testimony presented, the Board ordered a reappraisal of the classes of property with omitted improvements for 2013 pursuant to §39-2-114 C.R.S. As part of the order, the Board required Saguache County to develop a plan of reappraisal to be reviewed by the property tax administrator and to be submitted for approval by the Board no later than January 15, 2013. The plan was developed, submitted and approved as required.

IDENTIFIED PROBLEMS

- Many parcels that have been improved with buildings, some for many years, are being taxed as vacant land. There was a back-log of new construction permits which had not been processed for multiple years.
- The assessor did not use the CAMA system to value any of the properties for the 2010 level of value (2011-2012 tax years.)
- The land values do not appear to be consistent or at the correct level of value.
- The assessor developed a tracking spreadsheet for building permits that needed to be reviewed which covered the time period from 1994 through October 25, 2011. Some of these were processed by the assessor and temporary staff during 2011 and 2012. However, it appeared the characteristics for these properties were not consistently and accurately entered into the CAMA system.
- The assessor and staff were able to complete the physical inspections on some of the permits for the classes of agricultural, natural resource, and commercial properties. Those inventories must be reviewed and the remaining physical inspections completed as identified on the tracking spreadsheet used by the assessor. In addition, permits for non-residential property or for newly constructed non-residential improvements on vacant land must be obtained for the period after October 25, 2011 to December 31, 2012, and the county's GIS database examined to identify other improvements not requiring permits or built without permits. Those properties must also be physically inspected as necessary.
- As of September 15, 2012, the assessor had sent out approximately 270 Notices of Value and Special Notices of Value on improved properties for the 2012 tax year. Approximately 30 properties had been sent Special Notices of Value for 2010 and 2011. Those that are for non-residential property must be reviewed for accuracy once the CAMA system values can be determined.

CORRECTIVE ACTIONS

- Confirm that all building permits have been obtained from the various city/town/county planning boards, including those which were issued after October 25, 2011.
- Work with the San Luis Valley GIS/GPS Authority to identify any improvements which were constructed without permits.
- Inspect or review all properties on the permits, and identified via GIS photos.
- Division personnel and available county personnel will use Pronto Forms and Apex Sketch software installed on iPad devices and the input forms developed by division staff to gather all inspection data and take photos. This data will then be emailed to a central address and formatted for electronic batch upload into the CAMA system.
- For those properties that have already been inspected by county personnel, confirm correct inventory for the improvements, and the input that was already done for consistency and accuracy.
- Review land values, sales from the 2012 base period, and confirm the correct level of value for each economic area. Any adjustments must be completed by March 1 so that the residential CAMA models can be calibrated.
- Do time trend analysis to determine if there are any adjustments to be made.
- Calibrate the commercial model for the county or economic area(s).
- Do final analysis to be sure the classes are in compliance with State Board of Equalization standards.

EXECUTION OF THE PLAN

Cherice Kjosness was designated the supervisor of the reappraisal and Curtis Belcher was the assigned manager of field operations. Mike Kerrigan was assigned the collection of data, analysis and valuation of the omitted commercial properties. The residential class of property was included in the 2013 order because there were still omitted residential improvements on January 1, 2013. However, the residential class was also under a State Board of Equalization Order for 2011, extended to 2012, so the staff hours and expenses for the inventory of residential property would be allocated to that reappraisal.

Identifying and Adding Omitted Property

Saguache County Assessor, Jacqueline Stephens, worked closely with Mr. Belcher to identify new building permits. Pete Magee of Integrated Land Services, Inc. was contracted by the county to provide GIS support services to identify improvements on currently designated vacant land parcels.

The DPT obtained 3 iPad devices to collect data for direct upload into the Pueblo based Saguache County appraisal module (REAP). Ms. Kjosness obtained a subscription to Pronto Forms, a web-based data handling software that had been used by the DPT in completing the physical inspections for the Adams County reappraisal order in 2012. She then developed an iPad compatible form for use in the field operations. The form was used as an electronic property card. It contained the current information in the assessment system for each parcel and fields to input additions and changes to the essential characteristics of land and improvements for the REAP system. It also allowed the inspector to take up to 4 pictures with the iPad and attached them to the parcel record. The initial form was for residential properties with only one residence as this was the predominant property type. Subsequently, another form for agricultural property improvements was developed. No form was used for commercial property and Mr. Kerrigan worked closely with Ms. Stephens and her appraiser, Peter Peterson, to identify, enter and value the commercial and mixed use properties.

In addition, 3 licenses for Apex Mobile Sketch for iPad were obtained so that drawings could be made on site and the inspector would have accurate areas to input into the Pronto form. One license for the Apex Sketch – Assessor version was obtained so that the mobile sketch files could be converted to files compatible with the Saguache system.

The iPads and software were deployed to the county the week of January 7th. However, the actual field work could not be started until the following week due to problems with obtaining a full set of records and with the web dispatch of records. Some training was necessary for the proper operation of the software. The Pronto program would not allow dispatches of more than 500 records at a time, so separate sets of records were sent to each of the three iPad devices. This caused some difficulty in the field when trying to follow a logical course through a subdivision did not coincide with the parcel numbers in the devices. We also encountered problems with multiple copies of each record being dispatched to the devices. This caused a considerable amount of extra work to clear the devices and re-dispatch the records. Ms. Kjosness worked with the Pronto Forms support staff to try to decipher the cause, but was not successful.

The input into the forms was performed in the field whenever possible. The input could be saved and then reviewed for correction or completion. Once the iPads were in range of a wireless internet connection, the completed records were uploaded to the Pronto Forms website where they resided for 45 days. At the time the record was uploaded it sent a copy of the form input fields in an Adobe Acrobat format (.pdf), and any associated pictures to designated email accounts. A scheduler function allowed a text file containing all the records submitted in the prior 24-hours to be emailed each midnight.

The text files were converted to Excel spreadsheets and formatted for direct upload into the computer system. Dave Bratina, an IT professional with Pueblo County was instrumental in writing the programs to accomplish the uploads. The first upload did not produce satisfactory results because all the essential fields were not present in the data and some input codes were incorrect. Ms. Kjosness had developed the form with drop-down menus to try to minimize input errors, but the menu items did not match the required responses. It was discovered that although the assessor was allowed to make changes to the tables, if she did not notify Pueblo IT, those changes would not be considered valid responses in the system. Corrections were made both to the upload file and to the data collection form. However, the assessor decided to directly enter most of the data into her system instead of using the upload method. Subsequently, one or two sets of records were uploaded directly into the system. The others were entered into the system by the assessor or her staff.

There were 13,077 parcels of real property in Saguache County on January 1, 2013. The DPT staff physically inspected or reviewed 4,024 parcels using the Pronto Form electronic property card. In addition, 6,579 parcels were reviewed using the aerial photographs and GIS layers provided by Land Integrated Services, Inc. The most recent aerials were as of June 2011, but those were not available for all areas. Some were as old as 2000. This resulted in 125 parcels with some sort of improvement indicated, and 203 parcels not located on one of the layers. The remainder appeared to be vacant.

In an effort to confirm that all data collected had been entered into the Saguache CAMA system, a review of all the properties that had been identified for upload was performed in the second and third weeks of April. Properties that did not reflect the added improvements per the county's website were emailed to the assessor. When she added these, she sent back an email confirmation with a screen print of the computer record. A few properties were still not accessible and those were marked for a summer inspection.

Sales Confirmation

The master sales list for the 24-month base period from July, 1 2010 to June 30, 2012 was examined and all transactions with sales prices over $500 were initially considered qualified regardless of the assigned codes. This resulted in the following:

91 sales of vacant property

78 sales of residential property

9 sales of commercial property

No time trend was identified so none was used. After further investigation, 30 sales of vacant parcels and 27 sales of residential parcels were unqualified for valid reasons.

Vacant land was not included in the state board order. However, Ken Beazer, a Division staff person reviewed the sales and physically inspected many areas of the county with the assessor in February of 2013. He subsequently analyzed 71 sales of vacant parcels over a 24 month period and found no statistically significant time trend. He did find some extreme outliers in the sample. These results were submitted to the assessor on February 12, 2013.

For the residential property, the 64 qualified sales yielded a median of .987 and a coefficient of dispersion of 11.11 indicating statistical compliance with the State Board of Equalization Requirements.

The nine sales of commercial property were considered with sales from the 5-year data period. There were an insufficient number to use to set values, but they were used as a test of reasonableness for similar properties.

Valuation of Omitted Property

Mike Kerrigan identified 6 sales of vacant properties which he confirmed with parties of the sale. Three were of commercially zoned parcels, and three were residentially zoned. He felt they indicated an under valuation of lots in the Crestone area and that failure to correct the land values would render any revaluation of the omitted improvements invalid. He made recommendations to the assessor regarding these lots and the assessor applied the indicated land values. He then used the tables from the county's REAP system to value 15 commercial properties that had omitted property or were improperly classified. The values indicated were higher than the few sales of commercial properties, so he recommended that the assessor develop and apply a local factor to the tables to bring the values more in line. He also reviewed and helped the assessor properly value 21 mixed use properties across the county.

The residential property was valued using the county's REAP system. The conversion of the prior system's files caused a coding error for some of the properties. The old system had a numeric only coding for the base areas of a residence such as first floor or above first floor, basement, etc. The Pueblo based system requires an alpha-numeric coding which incorporates the quality grade and the construction type, such as F3 for frame, grade 3. The problem with the conversion was not discovered until April because the REAP system had not been used to value the properties prior to 2013.

Finalizing the Reappraisal

The correction of the coding error in the data caused a delay in mailing the Notices of Value. Instead of May 1, as required by statute, the notices were mailed on May 10. The assessor was advised to extend the protest period to June 10. A notice was printed in the paper and notices posted in the courthouse notifying the taxpayers of the extended period.

Through protest, several properties were found to be duplicate assessments. These were corrected and a Notice of Determination was sent. Investigation revealed that these were the result of the GIS parcel layer not being an accurate overlay for the aerial photo.

The last week in May, a realtor reported that she had identified several residences and significant improvements that did not appear on the county website. These were promptly investigated and while several appeared to be correct, several others were still omitted. One of these properties was inspected and submitted twice by state personnel, but still showed as vacant land. Field supervisor Belcher reported that both the county staff and he had observed instances where data was entered into the Saguache system, but then was not reflected on the website. At other times, it was entered, but never appeared in the system at all. It is unclear if this was some sort of operator error or if there was a loss of data over this internet based system. In any case, there will be several properties that will be submitted to the County Board of Equalization for upward adjustment in the interests of equalization and correction of errors. These will be reported in a supplement to this report.

It must be noted that many valuations decreased in the new base period. Therefore, the impact of the reappraisal is not fully reflected in the 2013 values. Properties that were added to the tax roll for 2011 and/or 2012 may have had a higher value which is not reflected here. Also, there were properties which were inventoried by county staff throughout the fall of 2011 and all of 2012 which were valued and reported on the abstracts for that year, but were not entered into the county's REAP system until late 2012 and early 2013.
