Directory of Office of Behavioral Health
Funded Community Prevention Programs Providers

2013 - 2014

This directory provides a listing of the Office of Behavioral Health Community Prevention Programs (OBH Prevention), Program Provider Grantees for the following OBH Prevention administered grants:

- Colorado Prevention Partnership for Success Grant (CPPS)
- Law Enforcement Assistance Fund Grant (Leaf)
- Persistent Drunk Driver Grant (PDD)
- Substance Abuse Prevention and Treatment Block Grant (SAPT BG)

Colorado Prevention Partners for Success (CPPS)

Colorado is one of only four states to be awarded the Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration (SAMHSA) Partnership for Success: State and Community Prevention Performance grant. This program is designed to help reduce statewide substance abuse rates by addressing gaps in current prevention services and increasing the ability to reach out to specific populations or geographic areas with serious, emerging substance abuse problems. The other three states are Connecticut, Illinois, and Tennessee.

The Colorado Prevention Partnership for Success (CPPS) project employs a public health model to demonstrate positive statewide change to prevent the onset and reduce the progression of underage and binge drinking among Hispanic/Latino high school youth. The Office of Behavioral Health will be working with four counties: Adams, Denver, Pueblo, and Weld over the next five years.

The first section of the directory lists the CPPS funded program providers.

Law Enforcement Assistance Fund (LEAF)

The Law Enforcement Assistance Fund (LEAF) legislation allocates funds to the Colorado Department of Transportation and the Colorado Department of Human Services, Office of Behavioral Health (formerly the Alcohol and Drug Abuse Division). Monies allocated to the Office of Behavioral Health (CRS 43-4-402) are used “to establish a statewide program for the prevention of driving after drinking, including educating the public in the problems of driving after drinking, training of teachers, health professionals, and law enforcement in the dangers of driving after drinking, preparing and disseminating educational materials dealing with the effects of alcohol and other drugs on driving behavior, and preparing and disseminating education curriculum materials for use at all levels of school.”

The second section of the directory lists the LEAF funded program providers.

Persistent Drunk Driver (PDD)

The Persistent Drunk Driver (PDD) Cash Fund was established July 1, 1998 by HB 98-1334, known as the “Persistent Drunk Driver Act of 1998”. The fund receives fees imposed on convicted Driving While Ability Impaired (DWAI) and Driving Under the Influence (DUI) offenders. The fees are assessed in the form of an additional penalty surcharge collected by the county courts and forwarded to the State Judicial Department where they are deposited in the PDD fund. The overall purpose of the fund as expressed in 42-3-303, C.R.S. is to:

- Pay for costs incurred by the Department of Revenue for implementation of certain portions of the act
- Support programs intended to deter persistent drunk driving
- Support education programs for the general public, with particular emphasis on the education of young drivers regarding the dangers of persistent drunk driving
- Pay the costs for required intervention and treatment services for a persistent drunk driver who is unable to pay for the required intervention or treatment services

The counties currently selected to receive Persistent Drunk Driver (PDD) funds were chosen by region based on combined rates of juvenile-alcohol related arrests and juvenile DUI's that were over 50% above the state average.

The third section of the directory lists the PDD funded programs.

Substance Abuse Prevention and Treatment Block Grant Funds:

The Colorado Office of Behavioral Health Community Prevention Programs (OBH Prevention) administers a portion of the Federal Substance Abuse Prevention and Treatment (SAPT) Block Grant from the Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration (SAMHSA) to implement substance use disorder prevention programs, practices and approaches within the state which align with federal and state prevention priorities. The federal block grant guidelines include primary prevention activities that are directed at individuals who do not require treatment for substance use and abuse. In implementing comprehensive primary prevention programs, a variety of strategies are utilized including but not limited to the six SAMHSA Center for Substance Abuse (CSAP) strategies listed: Information Dissemination, Education, Alternatives, Problem Identification and Referral, Community-based Process, and Environmental.

In conjunction with CSAPs promotion of priority populations for prevention programming that include children and youth under age 18; young adults age 18-25 years old, military and their families, older adults, among others. OBH Prevention has determined four priority areas for the prevention Block Grant funding with the goal of reaching individuals, families, schools, communities and larger systems. These funding areas are:

- Prevention and Reduction of Under Age 18 Alcohol, Tobacco and Other Drug Use
- Changing Community Norms Regarding Alcohol, Tobacco and Other Drug Use
- Addressing Population-based Needs Regarding Alcohol, Tobacco and Other Drug Use
- State Priority Initiatives

By supporting these four priority areas in the deployment of effective, researched-based strategies within a comprehensive framework, OBH aims to promote programs, resources and services that together contribute to a healthy Colorado.

The fourth section of this directory lists the Substance Abuse Prevention and Treatment Block Grant funded programs in order of the four funded categories abovementioned.

Program Information
Program Name	Adams County Prevention Partnership
Target Population	Hispanic/Latino High School Youth
Area Served (by County)	Adams
Language Served	English/Spanish
Program Strategies	Information Dissemination, Education, Alternatives, Problem Identification and Referral, Community-based Process, Environmental
Program Description	Recent gains made in curbing substance abuse by US youth suggest community based prevention programs have impact; however, much work remains to be done. Recent reports show that within Colorado, 32% reported having 5 or more drinks of alcohol in a row. As troubling, 29% of students reported that in the past month, they rode with a drinking driver and 11% said that they drove after drinking in the past month (1). These state rates are also reflected within Adams County, a county with a high Hispanic population. According to the Adams County Student Survey administered to all 6th through 12th graders in Adams County, in 2009 36% of students self-report having drank alcohol in the past 30 days while 82% of students believed that other students in their school had used alcohol in the same time period. The Adams County Prevention Partnership aims to reduce binge drinking among Hispanic youth across Adams County by leveraging a strong community based prevention infrastructure and building on the successes of existing programs. Using a community based, coalition approach and by incorporating CSAP's strategies of Information Dissemination, Education, Alternatives, Problem Identification and Referral, Community-based Process, Environmental, the project will have a significant impact on the rate of youth binge drinking within the County, and by extension, across the state.¹ The Costs and Effectiveness of Substance Use Disorder Programs in the State of Colorado, Report to the General Assembly House and Senate Committees On Health and Human Services October 31, 2010.

Program Description	Denver County will address the issue of underage and binge drinking among Hispanic/Latino high school youth via the Colorado Prevention Partners for Success (CPPS) grant. Our performance target is to reduce 30-day binge use among Hispanic/Latino high school youth by 5% after 3 years and 8% after 5 years. We are working through and revisiting steps of the Strategic Prevention Framework, specifically focusing on those neighborhoods and schools with a greater than 50 percent Latino population. We continue to engage our community coalition, the Denver Drug Strategy Commission (DDSC) which also serves as our Prevention Policy Board. General policy questions and concerns will be brought forth during DDSC meetings; for sector-specific policy concerns (e.g., regarding schools or law enforcement), individuals representing those sectors will be engaged in ad hoc meetings to develop specific recommendations. Building capacity and momentum in the community will also continue to be an ongoing goal with a specific focus on youth empowerment and youth advocacy. Program implementation will be guided by community needs and the CSAP prevention strategies such as information dissemination, prevention education (i.e. implementing evidence-based programs - The Strengthening Families Program), and environmental strategies (i.e. reducing youth access to alcohol).

The Mountain Mentors and ARBY DUI Prevention Program has nine years experience implementing this project. In the past, youth already experimenting with drugs and alcohol have shown a significant decrease in 30-day use as a result of this program. Summit County has utilized the mentoring model to provide alternatives, which make sense in a county with many young single volunteers. The ARBY program utilizes the mentoring strategy as well as a work skill component. Evidence collected over the past nine years supports this project as effective in the reduction of ATOD use and improvement of attitudes around use. The Mountain Mentors and ARBY DUI Prevention Program logic model has a foundation in evidence-based research (mentoring & life skills development) and 23 years experience in implementing specific activities that have proven effective.

Program Description	The objective of the proposed project is to reduce the prevalence of alcohol use in the previous 30-day period among 14 – 18 yr. old high school students and 18 – 20 yr. old Colorado State University students in Fort Collins. Contributing factors for underage alcohol use in Fort Collins are a high availability of alcohol throughout the community and laws and norms favorable to alcohol use. These are exacerbated by a college demographic that tends to be transitory and mobile with low community and neighborhood attachment. These community characteristics represent four of five community risk factors identified by Hawkins and Catalano (1992). Efforts to reduce the availability of alcohol will focus on three locations—house parties, alcohol retailers, and community events. Prevention education will be provided to middle school youth, high school youth, CSU students under the minimum legal drinking age, and parents of middle and high school students.

The degree to which children are attached and bonded to their parents, parental attitudes towards ATOD, and parental skills, have a critical effect on the child's decisions later in life surrounding ATOD use. The Families United parenting program uses a variety of evidence-based curriculums to enhance bonding and attachment, increase parental involvement, promote positive parenting strategies, and provide drug and alcohol education. Through home visitation, parenting classes and topical discussions, access to classroom settings, pro-social events and case management, Families United aims to increase bonding and attachment in 50 percent of enrolled families in the next 3 years and 75 percent within the next 5 years, resulting in decreased ATOD use. In addition Families United collaborates with other community agencies to provide a continuum of ATOD prevention vital to Summit County's ability to decrease ATOD use.

Selective small businesses will also receive the full-spectrum of Employee Assistance Program (EAP) services, and will have the option to receive evidence-based trainings for supervisors and employees as part of their DFWP program implementation. Training opportunities will also encourage state-wide EAP providers to adopt screening, brief intervention and referral to treatment (SBIRT) as a best practice in interrupting the development of substance use disorders. By utilizing these prevention strategies, the WPS program intends to help reduce the use of substances among working adults, aged 18 to 65 years old, and their family members.

Program Description	The School/Community Prevention Project works to leverage wide-spread community resources towards the prevention of substance use and the promotion of health in our youth and families. Sponsored by Archuleta School District 50 Joint, the project provides evidence-based prevention education for all students in the county, K-12, emphasizing parent/youth communication about health. Community-wide collaboration using the Strategic Prevention Framework led to selection of outcome indicators for Year III and Year V of full implementation: a 5% decrease by 2013 and an additional 5% decrease by 2015 in the identified risk factors (early initiation, low perceived risk of harm, and favorable attitudes towards use of alcohol, tobacco and marijuana) and in the data point of 30-day use of those substances by our youth.
