

INTERSTATE CASE FAQ's

I've misplaced copies of court orders, where can I obtain new copies?

You may contact the court where your order was established directly and request certified copies of orders entered in your case.

What if I do not recall who issued orders in my court case?

You may contact the child support services office where you applied for assistance in locating the appropriate court.

I was told my case was sent to Colorado for processing. Who should I contact for updates and questions about it going forward?

Address all questions and concerns with the office where you first applied for services even if your case was transferred to Colorado.

What can I do to help my case move forward?

Maintain contact with the office where you applied for services and keep them updated on any changes in your contact information.
