This Resource Guide has been developed as a service for those individuals in the Denver metropolitan area who have a visual impairment, are friends or family members of a person with a visual impairment, or who are service providers for individuals with visual impairment. It is being provided by the Colorado Division of Vocational Rehabilitation through its specialized teaching programs for the blind.

The Division of Vocational Rehabilitation offers individuals with vision loss a variety of services. Home and center-based instructional services are available to assist visually impaired individuals, of legal work age and older, in developing independent living and independent travel skills. Emphasis is placed on services for those wishing to obtain or maintain employment; however, special programming is also available for seniors with impaired vision.

This listing is available in large print, braille or on 3.5” computer disk (formatted to Microsoft Word 97) by calling 303-937-1226.

Division of Vocational Rehabilitation Colorado Rehabilitation Center

The Colorado Rehabilitation Center provides a variety of services and resources for adults with vision loss. A brief description of services follows:

- 1. Rehabilitation Teaching consists of instruction in such skills as independent travel, braille, typing, cooking and all homemaking skills, personal grooming, use of low vision aids, and computer orientation. Counseling to facilitate adjustment to vision loss is an ongoing part of the program. Services are provided in the home or work environment and are free of charge. To request services in the Denver area call the Colorado Rehabilitation Center (303-937-1226). To contact other rehabilitation offices serving persons who are visually impaired, see the following listing.
- 2. Personal Adjustment Training Program (PAT) consists of instruction in the same skill areas listed above under Rehabilitation Teaching. Full-time instruction is provided mainly at the Colorado Rehabilitation Center; however, some training and the opportunity to practice skills takes place in the home, the community, or in the transitional living apartments. In conjunction with skills training, the PAT program offers counseling to facilitate adjustment to blindness and a variety of group classes and activities. Referrals to the Rehabilitation Center must be made through a rehabilitation counselor or rehabilitation teacher. Services are free of charge.

- 3. Vocational testing, training in job-seeking skills, and a client-employer job-matching service are also provided at the Colorado Rehabilitation Center. Referrals are usually made by a rehabilitation counselor and the programs are free of charge.
