Population Health

Short-Term Goals

Practice Transformation: SIM Practices expand connections with community partners through shared care planning.

Practice Transformation: There will be an increase in embedded, co-located or tele-behavioral health providers in SIM-participating primary care practices.

Practice Transformation: Core competencies and expectations are put in place to enhance the capacity of the behavioral health workforce working in integrated care settings.

HIT: SIM Practices understand and are capable of sharing behavioral health information.

HIT: SIM Practices understand how to utilize health information from their EHR and HIE for population management of their patients.

HIT: eCQM is improved through validation and alignment processes across payers, programs, and SIM providers.

Payment Reform: Payment models support integrated SIM practices that share information and coordinate care across disciplines and across health systems.

Population Health: Improved health outcomes (physical and behavioral) demonstrated for the "little p" SIM population through CQM reporting by practices and CMHCs.

Long-Term Goals

Practice Transformation: Providers are able to track and coordinate their patients' care outside of their own practices or systems.

HIT: Effective clinical, behavioral and claims data sharing processes in place to improve population health and care management.

Payment Reform: There are shifts in payment models that allow practices to sustain integration and support continuum of care.

Payment Reform: There is a solid body of evidence demonstrating positive financial outcomes of integrated care

Population Health: There are demonstrated outcomes showing improved health (physical and behavioral) for all Coloradans .
